Policy Statement

All employers to whom the Workplace Health, Safety and Compensation Act, 2022 (the Act) applies are obligated to register with WorkplaceNL and to pay assessments levied by WorkplaceNL. WorkplaceNL has a right of action against the employer for any unpaid assessment or part thereof. The purpose of this policy is to inform parties about the applicable limitation periods to which WorkplaceNL is subject in levying and collecting assessments.

General

Six Year Limitation Period

When exercising its right of action against an employer who fails to register, or in adjusting an employer account, WorkplaceNL is subject to the limitation period of six years, regardless of the employer's date of registration.

Section 6.(1) of the Limitations Act states:

Following the expiration of six years after the date on which the right to do so arose, a person shall not bring an action:

(f) to enforce an obligation arising from a statute.

In making this policy WorkplaceNL has not abandoned any rights it may have against an employer who negligently or intentionally withholds information relevant to his/her assessment.

10 Year Limitation Period

When an employer defaults on its assessment, WorkplaceNL is authorized by Section 140 of the Act to issue a judgment for the amount remaining unpaid against the person by whom it was payable. When enforcing such a judgment, WorkplaceNL is subject to the limitation period of 10 years.

Section 7.(1) of the Limitations Act states:

Following the expiration of 10 years after the date on which the right to do so arose, a person shall not bring an action or proceeding:

(a) to enforce a judgment of a court in the province for the payment of money or the recovery of personal property.
